

JOB OFFER: AGRONOMIST - LIVESTOCK FOCUS

POLICY AND RESEARCH

JOB DESCRIPTION :

Farm Europe is seeking a passionate Agronomist with a Livestock focus to strengthen our work on the livestock sector. You will play a central role in supporting our FE Livestock Platform, which brings together members and stakeholders from across the EU to discuss policy and innovation in the sector.

In this role, you will combine your agronomic expertise with policy analysis, helping to shape informed debates on the future of livestock production in Europe. You will monitor EU legislation, provide insights on the livestock sector, and support engagement activities with policymakers, industry representatives, and other stakeholders.

The ideal candidate is proactive, curious, and able to translate complex scientific and policy information into actionable insights for our members and partners.

RESPONSIBILITIES :

- Policy monitoring: Track EU and national policies, proposals, and regulations related to livestock systems, animal welfare, and carbon emissions.
- FE Livestock Platform support & animation: Coordinate and animate activities of the Livestock Platform, including workshops, webinars, and meetings.
- Stakeholder engagement: Build relationships with public authorities, industry representatives, and experts to ensure active participation in platform initiatives.
- Research & Knowledge Dissemination: Conduct applied analyses and provide evidence-based insights to inform Farm Europe's recommendations, and support the communication of these insights through reports, briefs, and other dissemination tools.

ABOUT US :

Farm Europe is a Brussels-based association specialized in European agricultural and food policies. We work to design, analyze, and promote policy solutions that reconcile economic sustainability and environmental performance in the European agricultural sector.

REQUIRED SKILLS :

- Background in Agronomy (livestock-related expertise or strong interest required)
- Knowledge of EU agricultural and livestock policies is highly valued.
- Strong analytical, writing and communication skills
- Ability to work in a policy-oriented and dynamic environment
- Fluency in English is required; French or other European languages are an asset

Location: Brussels (Schuman area)

Modality: On-site with 1 day remote/week

Salary: To be negotiated based on profile.

Start date: As soon as possible
